

LCO-France - Volunteer Application

Why Volunteer? As a Volunteer you will effectively gain experience in an environment that offers synergy and mobility, both important for the job marketplace in Europe today. At the same time you'll gain new skills. The Centre is located in a natural park offering healthy, stress-free living.

The Linux Coaching Organisation, hereinafter known as LCO-France is registered in France as a 'Not For Profit' Association, No 20040042. Its primary aim is to promote and help those who seek to migrate away from proprietary software to Opensource. Its secondary purpose is to assist, by design and creation of websites, both local and international organisations.

Volunteer terms will be for a period of not less than three months and Volunteers may extend their stay for a further three months should this be acceptable to both sides. Transfers to and from St. Etienne and LCO-France can be provided at the start and end of any volunteer term.

Volunteers will be allocated a private room, provided with meals and refreshments. Unlimited internet access is available during their stay at the Centre. Volunteers should make their own arrangements with regard to personal health and insurance, whilst in France.

There are no hard and fast rules regarding work periods and training provided by LCO-France. Because of the rural environment and nature of the work, working hours are flexible. Ample time is available for relaxation, outdoor activities etc., and volunteers will be invited to accompany staff on shopping trips and other visits.
